STOPPING WILSON'S SPEECH

Senate Resolution Reminding President of His Obligations GERMANY CONTROLLED BY OLD BUREAUCRATS PRESIDENT SHOULD DISCUSS LEAGUE WITH SENATORS BEFORE TALKING TO THE PUBLIC

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Feb. 21.—Dr. Alonzo Taylor, food specialist, returned today from an extensive investigation in Germany on behalf of the supreme food relief council and said: "The German government is the same bureaucratic regime as in the past."

Germany's day and night represent the forces which control the food situation. He said a grave political upheaval was the problem that would come with the restoration of peace. Dr. Taylor said the German army apparently been disorganized and demobilized, but he believed it would be possible for a well organized bureaucracy to restore militarism. He said many Germans believe they can recover their battlefields and merchant fleet and don't expect to lose any territory. He said "Von Hindenburg is in charge of American affairs and the foreign office. Bureaucrats of the old school are in evidence everywhere. The Germans are becoming dissatisfied. They are afraid to put armed men in service and consequently tolerate the old order of things." marks. Consequently the men prefer idleness and now tolerate places so filthy that would have been prohibited under the old regime. They are prevalent loafing is common and the general morale is low. He said the food situation is critical.

are foreign relations committee. The resolution declares it would be "undignified and undiplomatic and calculated to promote discord" between the government and the treaty making powers of the League of Nations until he consults with the members of the plan to the senate.

discusses it with the senate. Senator Borah, in a Senate speech attacking the League, said it was the "most radical departure from our policies we ever encountered."

Senator Borah characterized as "to the utmost degree misleading" the statement that former President Taft proposed that the League of Nations be established by the United States alone. He said "the people of the United States have an undoubted right to change this form of government and to re-establish established policies whenever they see fit. I would not oppose any change in an orderly fashion as it may meet with the approval of the people at any time. I believe when ever a radical departure from the established policy is proposed, the people ought to be consulted." He declared the question should be referred to a vote of the people before any action is taken.
